COMPANY PROFILE

Senshi.Labs is an edutainment studio that develops free but fun educational games. Through collaborations with various teams of artists, designers and programmers, we also create entertainment video games in order to fund our edutainment projects. In line with this, our vision is to be able to create games we'll enjoy making as much as people will enjoy playing.

The Teams

We collaborate with talents who have proven track records like Kane Aoki and Thorton Salvador, composers of Dualist, as well as Sao Menguito, illustrator extraordinaire. Since 2014, the studio has been brewing educational and entertainment projects such as Mathoria, Adarna, and the War Guardian Chronicles.

The Interns

Interns are trained in real-life production. These interns are bright, young self-starting individuals who have an immense love for learning and an insurmountable desire to see their own game ideas come to life. Senshi.Labs then becomes an incubation space for such remarkable teams.
